

Silent Auction

Everyone needs a place marker, tape; rubber spot or chalk mark.

All but one player stand in a circle on their spot.

The girl in the middle is 'it'.

Each player wants to get to a new spot. In order to do this, they must 'sell' or trade the spot they are on. They may only communicate with another person using facial movements and gestures. They may not talk or use any body part below the shoulders to communicate.

Once they have made 'contact' with someone in the circle, those two players trade places, without letting 'it' steal one of their spots.

If their spot is stolen, they must stay in the middle and try and steal a spot from someone else as they try and trade places.
