Empowering Every Guide: Launching our Introduction to Neurodiversity Learning Activity

We are proud to announce that our newest national online learning resource, Introduction to Neurodiversity, officially launches today, Friday, 20h February on GGL.

Data from the 2025 Jamboree revealed that 30% of our Youth Guides self-identify as neurodiverse. To meet our commitment to inclusion, it is vital our Adult Members and Volunteers are equipped with the knowledge to support every girl. This activity provides the foundational tools to ensure our units remain safe, empowering, and truly inclusive spaces.

This activity was co-designed by the National Neurodiversity Working Group. By centring lived experience and practical unit needs, we have created a learning path that is both authentic and actionable.

Girl Guides Australia extends a sincere thank you to the National Neurodiversity Working Group. Their dedication and expertise have been instrumental in bringing this project to life.

How to access the activity:

Where: Log in to GGL – Home Page – Recently added learning OR Catalogue – National Recommended Activities – Inclusion & Diversity

When: Available from Friday 20th February 2026

Goal: Enhance your skills and help foster an environment where every girl can reach her full potential.
